“ Susan's life was truly an example of real love. Most of us are given the opportunity to live a full life with the chance to obtain education, marry, have families of our own, work at a profession, and travel; with illness being an obstacle to these gifts for her, Susan was giving to those in need, and offered whatever she could to help someone, even if it was just an ear to listen, and the time to be there for them. She was blessed with beauty, intelligence, and a sense of humor that at times offset her illness. She was her mother's 30th birthday present;. a gift of Love, that taught us all many lessons, truly, to value what you have, and whom you have, in your life, for as long as you shall have them. To not complain, but rather to be grateful for the many chances that are yours for the choosing. She will live on in our hearts and in our lives for the remainder of time. Love you always, your Family

“ Susan was just two years older than me. I always felt close to her. I have a lot of memories. I always tried to help her before and after dad was gone. I had birthday cakes and gifts. She was also my friend. I miss her dearly. Love Linda
