“ I met Cheryl and Sara when they moved in to the house next door to us. We use to get together and play cards and Nintendo games and monopoly and played for hours and had some great times, we use to get together and make cookies and candies for the holidays . And to this day I remember Cheryl making the best pork roast I have ever ate. One thing about Cheryl I remember very well is she did not allow people to make fun of Special needs people she made that quite clear when she met our Nicci she said she better never catch any one making fun of her or she would take care of it and that is how she raised her own daughter.. There is so much more I could talk about but I will close with this and I will always be thankful for them coming into my life she taught me a lot. And I will always love and remember her as a very special person.
