“ My life was so blessed almost 3 years ago. Martin came into my life. You could separate us after that first day. He came to my house everyday. I cooked for him which he always said where so good. We played bingo went to casinos. Shared holidays very one of them. My family adopted him and loved him. He was like my father but I mostly considered him as my closest friends. My heart is so heavy at this time. It's hard to face the day without him. Martin will be greatly missed by my family and more then anything me. I loved him and will always. I will miss him so much. Fly with the angels and remember I love you more then you know. Prayers

“ Martin was such a special man. Him and his wife Shirley were so sweet to us when we moved next to them. Anytime our dogs disappeared, they were always found at their house. Sassy was the runt of ours which we had to bottle feed to keep alive and we decided to keep her. Martin and Shirley instantly fell in love with her and we made the decision to give them her as an early Christmas present. That was the best decision we could have ever made. They spoiled that dog rotten...lol. I am heartbroken that Martin has passed on and I will miss his smile and his kindness that he showed towards everyone he met. He was a great man!
